

*Dear dreaming friends my scheming friends, in our quest for eternal learning friends
Some wise, some old, some crazy, some new, fantastic mirrors each one of you
Some have gathered years before, we know our stories, we've heard them all
We've danced to many different beats, we've bared our breasts and muddied our feet
Shared tales around our fireside huddles, talked mostly of love and all of our muddles
And shall I tell you what I did observe?
Some of us can be such nerds....
But none of us are muddles!*

*Some of us, well we've partied real hard, some partook whilst the others stood guard
And watched while the experiments took place, to find ourselves amongst this race
I've really seen such shocking scenes, you really are all drama queens!
And some of you (now you know who you are), really took things a little too far
Can't quite believe after all these years, we've shared our love, our fears, our tears
We've shared our cars our clothes our hats, Shared visions, dreams and yoga mats, We've swapped our partners and our cats, and shared our truths, now that's a fact!
We've even shared our high heeled shoes, not just the girls, the boys have too I've even shared my underwear, just because I really care.*

*Now some of our friendships are building and growing, we're feeling connections rising and growing
Were gathering to us Mirrors to See ourselves more and more through the eyes of the "WE"
Gathering pace with our home, our Earth Mother, creating a space we can share with our brothers
Co-creating a world where we all know our peace, and Mother can rest, and the Angels can sleep
My Heart has been opened one way or another by each of you precious dear sister and brother
My days can be filled with a joy that is You, my nights often treasures of playtime and truth
You all play a part in my mysterious dream, lets keep co-creating, keep up with the scheme*

*Some of you I love so much, some of you I'd love to touch Don't get me wrong, please get me right, I don't mean with my hands I mean with my light!
I trust you all I'm so glad to say and I couldn't find a better way
Than to gather you all together today
You think you're here to celebrate me, don't be silly, can't you see You're all so amazing, your light is so True
So I' want to celebrate you Being you
I really do.*